Berlin Crushed By Bombs

History's Greatest Raid

Swedish Papers Say City Cannot Survive Attack

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT

LONDON (AP)—Passing the record for the heaviest aerial attack in history, the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. engulfed Berlin Monday night with more than 2,300 tons of high explosive and incendiary bombs, thundered down from 1,000 bombers.

Mile upon mile of the world's third largest city, from downtown Berlin to its outer suburbs, was smashed by the bombs—topping the total of 2,300 tons dropped in the raid which laid waste to Hamburg.

First-hand accounts from Berlin correspondents told graphically how destruction ran through the heart of the city, wrecking government buildings and foreign legations.

"Berlin never can recover from this blow," the Aftonbladet quoted its sources as saying. Industrial areas still burning from the heavy raid last Thursday night were smashed again. Strong formations of daylight bombers roared across the English Channel today to add further weight to the growing Allied effort to wreck the Reich by aerial assaults.

The Aftonbladet gave a preliminary estimate of 10,000 persons dead and injured. Berlin admitted "a very large number" killed and injured.

There were two attacks, said the Stockholm Aftonbladet correspondent. The first came early and when the all clear was given people swarmed from shelters. They hardly had reached the streets when the sirens howled a second time. Thus many were trapped outside shelters and the casualty toll mounted.

The force consisted almost entirely of four-engine bombers. Taking off from Britain in the late afternoon for their 600-mile journey, they delivered their first attack around 8 p.m.

Ministry of Munitions Destroyed

Stockholm dispatches said the headquarters of Albert Speer, Minister of Munitions, were destroyed. They were located between the destroyed Aftonbladet office at Brandenburger Tor and the French embassy building on Pariser Platz.

It was from Speer's office of 200 rooms that he directed Germany's war production, for which he is responsible.

How crippling this blow might be to the Speer and other administrative centres was difficult to say because Propaganda Minister Goebbels previously had ordered the evacuation of Berlin and at least some sections of government offices also had been moved.

Lancaster and Halifax squadrons of the R.C.A.F. joined in the massive bombing attack. All the districts of the city of 5,000,000 as well as the suburbs were damaged, and particularly heavy devastation occurred in the centre of the capital near Unter den Linden, Alexander Platz and Friedrichstrasse, said a Zurich dispatch to the Stockholm Aftonbladet.

Twenty-six bombers were lost in the great Berlin raid and subsidiary operations, which included Mosquito bomber attacks on western Germany and mining in enemy waters. Four Canadian planes are missing.

Returning pilots said that, despite a solid cloud overhead, they could see for 70 miles the "great sea of flames and explosions" in Berlin.

Berlin today is covered by a huge black cloud of smoke, Swedish correspondents reported.

"We have had horrible hours," messaged the Stockholm Aftonbladet correspondent from Berlin. "Berlin burned throughout the night. Great sections of dwelling quarters, including workmen's, are a flaming sea of fire. A great number of government buildings were hit."

It was officially estimated in London that the bomb load dumped on Berlin Monday night raised the total weight loosed on the German capital thus far in 1943 to around 10,000 tons, compared with the 7,500 tons dropped on London during the Battle of Britain when the heaviest raid was 450 tons.

Berlin had been the target for bomb tonnage which in each of the last two raids was at least equal to that dropped on all of Britain by the German air force in the past 16 months.

Swedish dispatches detailing Monday night's damage in Berlin said the centre of the city suffered heavily. Several foreign legations and embassies in the diplomatic quarter, including the Swedish Legation, were burned to the ground, the Aftonbladet's correspondent reported.

The diplomatic quarter is located along the Tiergarten not far from the Reich's Chancellery and other government buildings. The Berlin office of the Aftonbladet, across the street from the United States Embassy, was destroyed.

Transport, Other Services Cut

The Swiss radio said windows were smashed in the "wiss Legation and adjoining offices handling business of Allied interests abroad were damaged."

The Aftonbladet listed the following districts damaged: Siemensstadt, where the great Siemens electrical works are located; Spandau, Wilmsdorf, Neukoen, Lichtenberg, Pankow. Many of these areas had been hard hit by previous raids.

Communication between Stockholm and Berlin was difficult today. First reports said transport in many sections of Berlin had broken down and electricity and gas services were interrupted.

The Aftonbladet correspondent said the work of clearing away debris was difficult, indicating the Berlin authorities were not equipped to handle such widespread destruction.

This already had been shown in an official order directing the owners of elevators, bulldozers and other machinery which could be used in emergencies to report them immediately to the air raid precaution authorities of the capital.

"Everything possible" is being used to extinguish the fires, said the Aftonbladet.

Returning pilots reported the cloud cover over Berlin was so thick the Nazis were unable to send up any night fighters or operate searchlights. Instead they just poured flak through the overcast.

The cost of the operation—which included the subsidiary attacks on western Germany and the mining—was less than half of the number of planes expended in the big R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. attack on Berlin Aug. 23 when a record of 58 was lost.

On the basis of pilots' reports expressing belief that the great armada got its bombs away over the exact centre of the city, it appeared probable that some of Berlin's most important governmental establishments in the Wilhelmstrasse area were heavily damaged.

The Germans themselves, only a few hours after the attack, made an unusually full admission of the weight of the assault, describing it as a "heavy terror" raid which caused a "great deal of damage and losses" among the population and destroyed historical buildings and the quarters of some diplomatic missions.

BEING ERASED—"Berlin will never be bombed," Air Marshal Goering promised the German people in 1939. But today after the R.A.F.'s 88th and greatest of all raids on it, the cables report that the German capital "can never recover from this blow." Roof-top view above was taken from a cornice of the Cathedral at one end of Unter den Linden and shows the clock tower of the Town Hall, left, and in the lower right an elbow of the Spree River. Berlin before the war had a population of 4,335,000 persons and was a great industrial as well as the political centre. Each bomb which is raining on it is hammering home to its people what a losing proposition the Nazis' war is for them.

Gen. McNaughton Expected to Retire Before Year End

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Citizen says an "unconfirmed but widely accepted report" circulated in Ottawa today that Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian army commander overseas, "may retire before the end of this year."

"With regard to the reports of Gen. McNaughton's retirement from his present position, any official announcement would most likely come from the defence minister," the Citizen said. "While he was last reported as being as far away as the Mediterranean area, an early return is anticipated."

"McNaughton, being a lieutenant-general, is not directly affected by the age limit applicable to lower ranks, but he is at the age when many others have retired, and his health is not robust, from recent reports."

"Authorities here are not disposed to confirm or deny, or even discuss the reports about Gen. McNaughton when the whole set-up abroad is the object of the visit there by the Minister of National Defence. Whatever is to be said about it would, properly, be for him to say."

"In the meantime, one of the five Canadian divisions overseas, an army corps, or the set-up of one, is in Italy, according to dispatches which have been passed. "Various changes in commands have been made, and more are evidently in prospect, including the highest of them all."

New Aluminum Plant

Montgomery's Men Continue to Forge Ahead in Italy

ALGIERS (AP)—A strong German force launched a sharp counterattack on the British 8th Army lines northwest of Agnone, but was beaten back after two hours of fighting, official reports from the front disclosed today.

At the same time, other 8th Army units chased the enemy from more high ground overlooking Alfedena from the southeast in rugged inland mountain sectors.

United States troops attacked and wiped out a German machine gun position northwest of Montaquila, also inland, without loss to themselves.

Bill Newson Leads Squadron In Berlin Raid; Sees Great Fires

By ALLAN NICKLESON

LONDON (CP)—The R.C.A.F. bomber group sent scores of Lancasters and Halifaxes with the R.A.F. Monday night as the emancipation of German war centres proceeded with Berlin blazing under its heaviest assault of the war.

Four aircraft of the Canadian force failed to return. Wing Cmdr. Bill Newson, D.F.C., of Victoria, B.C., leader of the Iroquois Squadron, said one explosion lit up his entire cockpit when the plane was four minutes away from the target area.

The aircraft in which Flt. Sgt. A. Peche of Ottawa was a gunner ran into heavy flak while on its way home.

"There are 30 holes in the kite," said Peche. "We escaped injury but one chap had just stepped from his seat for a minute when flak smashed through his fuselage where he had been sitting."

(The son of Lt.-Cmdr. and Mrs. H. M. Newson, 1992 Transit, Wing Cmdr. Newson was awarded the D.F.C. in August last for courageous operational duty overseas. He was born in Calgary and educated there and in Vancouver, Toronto and Kingston. His family came to Victoria to live three years ago.

(He served in the R.C.A.F. at Patricia Bay in charge of air navigational school, going overseas in September, 1942.)

B.C.E.R. Report Meets Criticism

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ald. Charles Jones, chairman of a special civic committee which investigated the Public Utilities Commission report on the B.C. Electric, submitted his report to the Vancouver city council today.

Ald. Jones reported that earnings allowed the B.C.E.R. would force an increase in gas service rates and street car and interurban fares throughout the lower mainland after the war and offer little prospects of reduction in light and power rates.

The German high command communique today claimed 6,000 troops were made prisoners on Samos and said those evacuated had gone to a neutral country, presumably Turkey.

'Holy Terror' General Apologizes For Striking Common Soldier

ALGIERS (AP)—It was disclosed officially today that the army's "holy terror," two-pistol Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, known as "Old Blood and Guts," had apologized to all officers and men of the American 7th Army for striking a soldier during the campaign in Sicily. Patton is called the army's "toughest, toughest, cactus-chewing guy," and "screaming orders so loud he scares the birds."

At the same time Allied headquarters said that correspondents might reveal all of the facts they knew of the incident which since last August has been one of the main subjects of discussion among soldiers in this theatre.

LOST TEMPER
While Patton, who gained fame by making a one-man charge against the Germans at St. Mihiel, was not relieved of his command of the 7th Army and was not given a formal reprimand, he received a censure from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower which has seldom been administered to a commander of an army.

The story is a strange one—the story of a general who in the heat of battle lost his temper and later admitted he was wrong and made amends.

SLAPS SHELL-SHOCKED MAN
The incident consisted of this, according to eyewitnesses: Gen. Patton slapped a shell-shocked soldier in a hospital tent because he thought the soldier was shirking his duty.

In a fit of fury in which he expressed sympathy for men really wounded but made it plain he did not believe the soldier before him was in that class, the general struck the youth in the rear of the head with the back of his hand.

The soldier fell over slightly and the liner of his helmet which he was wearing fell off and rolled over the floor of the tent.

NO MORE COMBAT DUTY?
A headquarters announcement had said:

"Gen. Patton is commanding the 7th Army, has commanded it since it was activated and is continuing to command it. Gen. Patton has never been reprimanded at any time by Gen. Eisenhower or by anyone else in this theatre. . . no report has ever reached this headquarters of any soldier refusing to obey an order by Gen. Patton."

Last Sunday night, Drew Pearson had broadcast from Washington that Gen. Patton had been "severely reprimanded" by Gen. Eisenhower. The radio commentator expressed the opinion that Gen. Patton would not "be used in combat any more."

Patton visiting an evacuation hospital in Sicily came upon a 24-year-old soldier sitting on a cot with his head buried in his hands, weeping.

"What's the matter with you?" Patton asked, according to persons who were in the hospital tent at the time.

"It's my nerves. I guess I can't stand shelling," the boy was quoted as replying.

Patton thereupon burst into a rage. Employing much profanity, he called the soldier a "coward," "yellow belly," and numerous other epithets, according to those present. He ordered the soldier back to the front.

The scene attracted several persons, including the commanding officer of the hospital, the doctor who had admitted the soldier, and a nurse.

NURSE RUSHED TO DEFENCE
A nurse, intent on protecting the patient, made a dive toward Patton, but was pulled back by a doctor. The commander of the hospital then intervened.

Patton then went before other patients, still in high temper, expressing his views. He returned to the shell-shocked soldier and berated him again.

The soldier appeared dazed as the incident progressed, but offered to return to the front, and tried to rise from his cot.

EISENHOWER TAKES HIDE OFF HIM

Facts concerning the soldier were later ascertained: He was a regular army man who had enlisted before the war. He fought throughout the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns, and his record was excellent. He had been diagnosed as a medical case the week previously, but had refused to leave the front, and continued on through the strain of battle. He finally was ordered to the hospital by his unit doctor.

The incident was reported to Eisenhower, who immediately wrote Patton denouncing his conduct and ordering him to make amends or be removed from his command.

"The old man certainly took the hide off him," an Allied headquarters spokesman said.

APOLOGIES
Patton apologized to the soldier whom he had struck, to the commander of the hospital and to all those present at the time. He then went before many officers and men as could be assembled from each division under his command and repeated his apology.

'Old Blood and Guts' Patton . . . Learns he must respect private soldier.

At the close of the campaign in talking to correspondents, Patton said:

"When these things are happening a commanding general is under great nervous tension. He may do things as he may after great regret. I know a great many people regard me as a . . .

"But I have patted five soldiers on the back for everyone I have spoken a harsh word to. I dealt harshly with a couple of soldiers and was wrong. I am going to apologize to them."

The incident reflected the character of Patton—a general who drives both himself and his men to the very limit in battles, who is highly emotional at times and is given to outbursts when under strain.

U.S. War Office Defends Decision On Canol Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. War Department stuck to its guns today on the $130,000,000 Canol Oil project in Northwest Canada, which Interior Secretary Harold Ickes has said "ought to be junked now."

Robert P. Patterson, Under-Secretary for War, described the program—designed to provide gasoline and other petroleum products for U.S. forces in Alaska and Canada—as "a bold undertaking" of which the War Department "is proud," and James H. Graham, special assistant to Patterson, said war needs justified it.

They testified before the Senate War Investigating Committee, which heard Ickes' views Monday. Ickes, petroleum administrator, said he had not been consulted about the project, for which the U.S. is footing the bill.

"I never consider costs in time of war," Graham testified in stating by his recommendation in favor of the Canol development, consisting of development of oil fields at Fort Norman, N.W.T., a pipeline to Whitehorse, Yukon, and removal of an aviation refinery from Texas to Whitehorse.

TIME PRESSED
Asserting there had been no time to get estimates of manpower and material requirements, Graham declared: "Gentlemen, there was a war going on and there still is a war going on. I've been taught not to consider costs in time of war."

The witness said he was a 33-year adviser to Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell at the time the recommendation was made.

Somervell issued the directive for the project.

"It was justified on the grounds of military necessity alone," Graham told the committee. "As an economic proposition, the whole thing was cockeyed from the beginning."

Patterson testified the results so far had "surpassed our hopes."

Lieut. Gen. Somervell, chairman Harry Truman declared, acted the same day he received a memorandum from Graham after a "conference at which the Imperial Oil Company of Canada expressed belief the oil fields could be developed to a capacity of 3,000 barrels a day."

LOCAL SUPPLY
Patterson said the project had grown out of "vigorous efforts of the army to produce a local supply of petroleum products along the land and air route to Alaska," and added: "The army took bold and prompt action in the dark days of '42. We uncovered a rich continental resource of oil, far beyond the original target of 3,000 barrels a day."

"Twenty thousand barrels a day is now assured."

"We already have uncovered an estimated pool of 50 to 100,000,000 barrels. But for our action this would not have been discovered."

"Had our endeavor been unsuccessful, it would have been a setback to us. But we should not have been censured for having tried."

Pinball Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP)—City council instructed its legal department Monday to appeal to the B.C. Appeal Court against the decision of Judge Lennox in county court ruling the city has no power to require licensees for pinball machines which produce music and enable a game to be played.

J. Wakely was ordered to pay a small fine in police court for operating the machines without a vending machine license, the latter having been canceled by the council in an attempt to outlaw the devices. The police court decision was overruled by Judge Lennox.

Chinese On Market

VANCOUVER (CP)—The unwritten law barring Orientals from the Vancouver market was repealed Monday by the city council. On recommendation of Market Commissioner W. J. McGuigan, the aldermen in market committee voted to rent stall space to a firm of Chinese fish merchants.

Consent, tacitly recognized as canceling a policy which has been in effect since the market was opened, is subject only to approval by federal rental control board of the $50 monthly fee offered by the new tenants.

Doors of Parliament Besieged As Mosley's Release Explained

By ROVER GREENE
LONDON (AP)—Home Secretary Herbert Morrison, sharply heckled by some members, today described Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, as a "man who stands for a doctrine almost universally detested in this country," but he took full responsibility for Mosley's release on the grounds of ill-health.

As he spoke in the House of Commons a noisy crowd of at least 1,000 war workers besieged the doors of Parliament, shouting "Mosley must go back to jail." Police reinforcements were called to handle the swelling ranks of demonstrators.

Sir Oswald and Lady Mosley were released last week from detention in Holloway Prison, where they had been held since June, 1940. Mosley led the British Union of Fascists until he was placed in custody.

For the most part the government benches today supported Morrison's explanation of the granting of freedom to Britain's No. 1 Fascist.

There were cries of dissent when Cmdr. Oliver Locker-Lampson, Conservative, asked: "Is not Sir Oswald Mosley Enemy No. 1, and may I ask if he would have been released if he had not happened to be a millionaire? May I ask if the minister will allow five doctors from this House to examine him?"

INSULTING QUESTION

Coldly, Morrison replied: "That question with the insulting implication in the middle, is hardly worthy of answer."

Morrison said he had consulted his fellow cabinet ministers before making the decision and declared, "this policy is not based on the expediency of making martyrs of persons who do not deserve the honor but on the general principle that these extraordinary powers of detention without trial must not be used except in so far as they are essential for national security."

He disclosed that Mosley is still restricted to virtual "house arrest" and explained the release on the ground that "I am not prepared to let anyone die in detention unnecessarily."

LARGE NUMBER FREED

Morrison said followers of the would-be fuhrer had been released.

"In view of the improvement in our national fortunes it has been possible without endangering national security to release a large number of former members of the British Union (of Fascists) on the ground their detention is not necessary in the present circumstances," the Home Secretary said. He added that the ban on the union's activities still remains in force.

The improvement in the country's fortunes, he said, would not have been sufficient justification alone for release of Mosley, because as a Fascist leader "he would have been the last to be released."

But, Morrison said, it was the unanimous opinion of the board of distinguished doctors who examined Mosley that release was essential to check his illness from thrombo-phlebitis and give any reasonable prospect of recovery

Gnr. Garrow, Injured at Dieppe, Back in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Several hundred Canadian fighting men, including veterans of the invasion of Sicily and members of naval and air force units, have arrived back in Canada. Also coming to the Dominion were British war brides and their children, a large draft of British navy men and merchant seamen, R.A.F. personnel, merchant seamen released from German prison camps, civilians from the British Ministry of Transport and a few Canadian civilians.

Majority of the returning Canadian soldiers were invalided back from Britain because of illness or injuries. The R.A.F. draft consisted mainly of newly-enlisted airmen, here to train as air or ground crew.

BACK FROM DIEPPE

Gnr. Al Garrow of Victoria wasn't in Sicily but he was at Dieppe. How he comes to be alive today, he just isn't certain.

A member of the Canadian permanent force, Garrow had his chest crushed when he was caught between the transport and a troop landing craft. "How I got back to England I don't know," he said. "I was unconscious for seven weeks. I don't even know if I have a right to be alive. But perhaps, somehow, I made it easier for those fellows around me here who invaded Sicily."

A group of Canadian sailors come home for brief leaves. Among them was AB. Arnold Schmidt of Saskatoon.

Mrs. Doreen MacMillan was an English wife coming to Canada to join her Canadian husband—Flt. Lt. Arthur MacMillan, R.C.A.F., who had been an air gunner on numerous bombing raids over Europe, and now is training to be a pilot at Winnipeg. With her was their eight-month-old baby girl, Mary Diane. Mrs. MacMillan, until recently was in the Waafs. Among soldiers being repatriated to Canada was Pte. Jack Holmes, Vancouver, injured by machine gun fire in practice manoeuvres.

CHARLIE 'AY DIES
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Charles Ray, 52, who gained fame for portrayal of country bumpkin roles of the silent screen, died today after a long illness.

Of Public Importance

ELSEWHERE IN THIS ISSUE OF THE Times is a reply from the faculty of Victoria College to a statement issued by the Board of School Trustees last Saturday. The points of view and arguments contained in both these documents should be carefully read and considered by the general public of this community. They involve an important immediate issue—the appointment of a new principal; they are directly concerned with the future of the city's premier educational institution—its continued affiliation with the University of British Columbia.

It is not our intention to indulge in a detailed discussion of the controversy which is now before the public. The statement from the members of the College faculty would seem to cover practically all the points of conflict between them and the Board of School Trustees. However, in view of the contents of that statement and their relation to the pronouncement of the school board, we submit that certain observations we made in these columns last Thursday were both timely and to the point. On that occasion we cited one particular version of the controversy which the announcement of the reported choice of a new principal for the College had provoked. This is the part of our editorial to which we refer:

"The college staff is reputedly hostile to the appointment of a new principal whose educational and administrative experience has been confined to a sphere of activity differing in important essentials from that to which it is suggested he be called. This presupposes the faculty's belief that Professor Elliott's successor should and could be selected from within."

It should be repeated that personalities do not enter into the question. It is purely a matter of principle and internal administration, and the time to deal with it "is in the interval between now and the date on which the university authorities in Vancouver are scheduled to dispose of the matter in the traditional way." At this point, therefore, it is fitting to quote a part of the College faculty's statement and part of the letter addressed to the Board of School Trustees which have a direct bearing on the two related points to which we originally drew attention—solely, of course, because of obvious implications. This from the statement:

"The board shows some lack of candor in its statement that the staff of the college will support Mr. Smith. Naturally, those members of any staff who remain on it assume the support of its principal as a point of professional ethics. But the board makes the above statement in order to refute the rumor that the Victoria College staff was opposed to this appointment. The facts are that on Nov. 18 the staff submitted in writing its objections to the appointment of Mr. Smith."

The following are two paragraphs from the College faculty's letter, under date of October 18, 1943, addressed to the chairman of the Board of School Trustees:

"Now that the appointment of a principal is before the board, the members of the staff of Victoria College venture to express their unanimous opinion that other things being equal, a member of the present staff should be selected. We consider that the adoption of any course involving a reorganization of teaching duties would prove a serious disadvantage to our students."

"If, on the other hand, the board has reason not to appoint a member of the present staff, we then respectfully submit the request that the person chosen should come to us with a record of successful experience in university teaching and administration."

The extracts from the College statement and the letter to the chairman of the Board of School Trustees would seem to provide ample justification for our particular reference to the matter. We said some of the versions of it which had reached us had little or no merit; but that others "would appear to strike at the vitals of the institution." These latter are now in a form in which they can be considered by the public. This is as it should be.

Words Meaning What?

REPUTABLE FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS regard Istanbul either as a rumor factory or a sounding board for the United Nations, neutrals, and enemy states alike. It has been used for both on many occasions since the beginning of the war and especially since the eclipse of Mussolini and the emergence of Italy as a "co-belligerent" of the Allied powers. Something more tangible than gossip, however, came over the cables from the city on the Golden Horn yesterday, and while three paragraphs may mean little or much, their contents are noteworthy as new evidence of a substantial relaxation in Turkish censorship. Here are the dispatches referred to:

1. Saffet Arlikan, Turkish ambassador to Berlin, who returned home last week, told Turkish journalists today: "Our political and economic relations with Germany continue in an atmosphere of cordial friendship."

2. A group of Japanese diplomats from Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria has arrived in Istanbul, apparently for the purpose of making a joint report to Tokyo on the effects recent war developments and the Moscow conference have had on Germany and her Balkan satellites.

3. The newspaper Aksham, which frequently reflects official Turkish views, heartily endorsed today the outline of the postwar world presented to the United States Congress by Secretary of State Cordell Hull in his report on the Moscow conference.

Nothing has transpired so far to disturb Turkey's "political and economic relations" with the Reich. It is in the best interests of both countries to keep them on an even keel—and to say so in public—so long as such a policy suits both. Nor is it suggested that Mr. Arlikan spoke with his tongue in his cheek. Turkish spokesmen have carefully and successfully walked the diplomatic tight-rope since war broke out.

No special significance attaches to the dispatch reporting the arrival in Turkey of Japanese diplomats; they and their country are seriously interested in what is going on in contemporary Germany—especially the point of view of the Nazi hierarchy and what the Oriental partner in the Axis may expect in the coming months. To what extent Hitler and Company unburdened themselves to the fellow travellers from Nippon, of course, is another matter altogether.

But when the official Turkish mouth-piece goes out of its way to acclaim Mr. Cordell Hull's outline of the postwar world, as defined by the four principal United Nations at the recent Moscow conference, it leaves the men of Berlin to put what valuation they like on Mr. Arlikan's diplomatically-decorous statement on his return to his native land. The Fuehrer and his principal lieutenants in crime know full well that four days before Pearl Harbor, like a bolt from the blue, President Roosevelt announced in Washington that the benefits of the Lease-Lend Act would be extended to Turkey, declaring he had found "the defence of Turkey vital to the defence of the United States." We said in these columns at the time:

"The President's order for Lease-Lend material to be made available to the Ankara government suggests, on the face of it, that Mr. Anthony Eden's oft-reiterated belief in Turkey's intention to live up to her original pact with Britain has been based on knowledge which good judgment has not permitted to be published."

Almost two years have elapsed. Much has happened since then. Italy is out of the war; the Italian fleet is in Allied hands; Italian soldiers are fighting on the United Nations' side. And Mr. Eden himself has just had a long confab in Cairo with the Turkish Foreign Minister. In the light of all these events, therefore, perhaps the statement we have quoted from the Turkish ambassador to Berlin may soon mean as much for Turkish neutrality as did the Japanese protestations for peace in Washington on the eve of Pearl Harbor. All of which, by a slightly different token, nevertheless, may be a case of wishful thinking.

Berlin Being Hamburged

PRELIMINARY REPORTS OF A ROYAL

Air Force and Royal Canadian Air Force "saturation" raid on Berlin last night mentioned historic points about the city which are probably masses of rubble today. Death and destruction in the neighborhood of Brandenburg Tor and Pariser Platz automatically suggest to all who know the Reich's capital that official Berlin now thoroughly understands something of the treatment to which London was subject on numerous occasions.

To what extent evacuation was carried out under an order some months ago, we have no means of learning. But a few block-busters of the two-ton and four-ton variety dropped within a quarter of a mile of Unter den Linden must have demolished many if not most of the historic buildings in this important part of the capital. And since not a few of them are, or course, occupied by important government departments—agencies of war—not even crocodile tears will be forthcoming.

Hitler asked for total war in the air. He has been getting it for months past. And if the German people are annoyed at the introduction of "saturation" technique to their capital, they should take Marshal Goering to task for fooling them. Now would seem to be the time, incidentally, for an intensive political propaganda raid over Berlin and other German cities.

Trade Follows Friendship

CANADIAN BUSINESS LEADERS were prominent in the sessions of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Congress in Toronto a week ago. One of them, Mr. J. M. Macdonnell, president of the National Trust Co., presided at one of the main events. This is encouraging to the extent of the leadership such men give to public opinion. It is significant, also, in the matter of the future economic relationships between the two countries.

That Russia will be an important market after the war is apparent. The possibilities in this direction were emphasized by Professor Ernest J. Simmons, head of the department of Slavic studies at Cornell, and director of that university's summer school of Russian civilization. He told the Congress that Russia will need many foreign products and that it was reported large orders for peacetime needs in machine tools were already being placed. He mentioned not only heavy producers' goods, but also consumer goods, such as automobiles, refrigerators, radios, electric household appliances. The Russians, he said, after all they have gone through and the giant indomitable strength they have shown, will want to achieve as high a living standard in their country as exists anywhere in the world. Canadian and American businessmen who want to trade with Russia, he said, should prepare themselves intelligently. They should know something of the economic system, the social life, and the language of the people with whom they intend to deal.

For the opportunities in this Soviet trade, there will be plenty of competition. Already there has been established at Stockholm a Russian Institute, with the co-operation of Swedish exporters who are getting ready to compete for their share. Canada has made a first step in the establishment of a legation at Moscow. Our minister there, Mr. L. D. Wilgress, is a former Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa. It may be taken for granted that his interests in Russia include close attention to trade possibilities and developments between his own country and the Soviet Union.

Bruce Hutchison

OTTAWA.

IT OCCURS TO me that some people may become too optimistic about the social reforms forecast in this department the other day. I hasten to add that while Canada is preparing certainly to undertake vast new projects of public welfare, it is quite wrong to assume that this country is ready for the peace. Far from it.

There is far too much loose talk about plans to provide employment after the war, as if the government had simply to turn on a tap the day peace is declared. The men who are working on actual projects of employment realize that the physical problem involved in creating public works, for example, is gigantic. It is not a mere matter of spending money. It is a matter of finding means to spend it.

When Mr. Coldwell talks about public works of perhaps a billion dollars a year after the war he is talking in money, not in physical materials. Canada simply cannot spend such money, unless it merely ladles it out to anyone who asks for it.

During the early stages of the war, the armed services and the Department of Munitions and Supply had no trouble getting all the money they wanted. The government put no limit on their spending. Their only problem was to spend it. This was the problem of drawing plans, of mining ore, cutting timber, building factories and machines. It is a long way from the treasury, where the cheques are written, to the finished industrial product. It is going to be a long way from the drawing board of the engineer of public investment after the war.

PRETTY LATE

WE ARE ONLY beginning to tackle this problem now, pretty late. The Public Works Department has recently been enlarged, obviously to draft up concrete plans of postwar construction. When Mr. St. Laurent says the government is getting ready employment-creating works sufficient to satisfy everyone, he is speaking optimistically, to say the least. This work will go forward now, doubtless in consultation with provinces and municipalities, but it is only in its preliminary stages.

In the same way, while the government certainly intends to push ahead its social security legislation at the next session of Parliament, there are great obstacles to be cleared away here also. You cannot draft a great pensions scheme, or health insurance, or children's allowances without long consultation with actuaries, if you are to avoid going broke.

But assuming this is done, in Canada we have still to apply our scheme to the complicated and divided federal structure of this country. It is inconceivable that social security can be enforced satisfactorily without fullest agreement between the provinces and the Dominion and so far agreement on such questions has proved impossible.

HEAD-ON

AT EVERY POINT the Ottawa planner runs head-on into the constitution. The C.C.F. encounters the most constitutional difficulty because it proposes the greatest measure of centralization of power in Ottawa. But every other party which attempts to rebuild our social structure and improve it sooner or later encounters the same difficulties in lesser or greater degree.

Therefore, as part of our reform program we must seek agreement between the 10 sovereign governments of Canada, the Dominion and the nine provinces. This takes time and we are late again, chiefly as a result of the failure of the last Interprovincial Conference, sabotaged by three eminent statesmen who shall be nameless. We have got to start from scratch again.

All this involves delay and it would be absurd to imagine because we are moving at long last we are anywhere near the goal. The only significant fact is that we are moving, that the lid has been taken off down here, and that the postwar planners, long held in restraint lest they distract any of our energy from the war, have been given the green light, doubtless by the Prime Minister.

OYSTER FARMING

From Calgary Herald

Oysters grow best in enclosed bays and sounds where fresh-water rivers dilute the salt water of the sea. Firm bottoms are best for oyster farming. There the farmer prepares a "seed" bed by clearing away old shell deposits. He then spreads new shell on the bottom.

The oyster larva develops from the oyster egg and attaches itself to a piece of shell where it soon develops into a young oyster. The grower leaves the young oysters for several months in the "seed" bed. Then he transplants them to a "growing bed" where food conditions are better.

The oysters are transplanted several times to new beds to avoid overcrowding. Thus they grow large and well-formed. The result is a food of excellent quality and high nourishment.

ROW F. PLOT FOUR

They will come back to the quiet towns, To the little white houses in the rain, To the garden patch, to the orchard lot, And the brown fields of corn and grain.

Goodbye, my friend, my brother, my brother, I still am here and I hold your hand, Goodbye, my friend, my brother, my brother, Lost somewhere in a strange new land.

They will come back to that they love, To those they love, who love them still, To those who know no claim for death, They will come back to farm and mill.

Goodbye, my friend, my brother, my brother, The bugler sounds "Last Post" no more, You are with us, my brother, my brother, Death has no claim on Row F. Plot Four.

WHAT ABOUT THE RANGERS?

From Comox Argus
Ever since the outbreak of the war, first as the home guard, latterly as the Rangers, men in the district have been meeting and drilling against an invasion of this district by the enemy. At first the home guard was given no encouragement at all from anywhere, then the Rangers came and they have received a lot of publicity and some assistance in the way of instruction and equipment. Now the question the Rangers are asking themselves is just this: Do they want us any more? If they do let Western Command say so and we will carry on, if not most of us are very busy men and we can easily find other things to do with our evenings. But let us know.

SIGNPOSTS OF NATIONHOOD

From Montreal Star
Canada was the first British Dominion to establish any legislation in any country. The Washington office was the first Canadian legation. Now Canada is the first Dominion to have an ambassador in any country. It was the first Canadian minister sent abroad to any country, the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, first occupant of the Canadian legation at Washington, and now high commissioner in London, who drew attention of the Canadian government to the desirability of elevating that legation to the status of an embassy in order that the Canadian representative might rank with the British ambassador.

WAR—FOUR YEARS AGO TODAY

Nov. 23, 1939—Transport Minister C. D. Howe named to head Canadian War Supply Board. Rumanian government resigned after refusing German trade demands. British armed merchant cruiser, Rawalpindi, sunk by German pocket battleship Deutschland and another warship with most of crew of 300 lost.

Chinese Relief Receives $50,000

Sum of $2,260, Canadian currency, equivalent to $40,000 Chinese, gross receipts from the bazaar has been sent to the China Defence League in Chungking, according to a report from the Committee for Medical Aid for China. In addition, the usual monthly remittance of $600 Canadian, equal to $10,000 Chinese, has gone forward, making a total for the month of November of $50,000 Chinese.

These funds will be used to help sufferers in the Honan-Shansi famine areas, refugees and orphans in the border regions and the International Peace Hospitals which serve more than 52,000 Chinese civilians and guerrillas who have turned every inch of "occupied" territory into war areas; act as centres for soldier and civilian care, more than 200 walking cases being treated daily in the out-patient department, train urgently needed medical personnel and act as casualty clearing stations.

A message from Mme. Sun Yat-sen, chairman of the China Defence League, reads in part:

"In faraway regions and behind enemy lines, our brave guerrillas defend their homes and check Japanese military, political and economic domination. They are the most advanced post in our defence and attack. They clash with the enemy almost daily. They suffer directly from all the acts of cruel revenge that an enraged foe can invent. International Peace Hospitals have helped thousands who do their duty for our common cause and saved the lives of many of them."

Gay printed tea sets, cushions, shopping bags, lavender sachets, brass and enameled British war relief pins, bookmarks and "thumbs-up" pins are some of a variety of things on sale.

No Immediate Board Reply To College Staff Statement

Victoria College staff opinion on the appointment of a new principal brought no immediate response from the City School Board today.

"I am not in a position to issue a statement until I have conferred with my colleagues on the board," F. G. Mulliner, chairman said.

At the same time it was learned the case of the college faculty had been laid before all members of the U.B.C. board of governors who could be reached. The board of governors will meet next Monday to consider giving final approval to the recommendation of the trustees.

The college statement, signed by all members of the staff but W. Harry Hickman and R. T. Wallace, follows:

"The Victoria College staff has avoided public discussion on the appointment of a principal during the past two months of heated School Board contention. Now, because of the statement by six members of the School Board in their release, it becomes necessary to present the facts at issue as we see them.

"1. Affiliation: The six members of the Board, with Mrs. A. S. Christie, school trustee, dissenting, state that the affiliation of Victoria College with the University of British Columbia will be unaffected by the present decision of the Board. The Board's adviser, Inspector Harold L. Campbell, has spoken in similar language. Now let us examine the facts.

"At present Victoria College as an affiliated institution has its staff appointments ratified and its courses and student gradings approved by the University. As early as April 30, 1942, Inspector Campbell outlined to us his suggested plan which in his opinion would integrate the College more closely into the elementary and secondary educational system of Victoria, which system falls under the direction of a policy-forming body of principals and supervisors.

TERMINAL COURSES

"Inspector Campbell further recommends that 'terminal, semi-professional or pre-vocational courses to meet the needs of the non-academic student' should be taught in part by the existing staff and in part by special instructors. These courses and this temporary staff would have no relation to the University.

"Here are alternative policies. Will academic control remain in the University or will it pass to a local body of elementary and secondary principals and supervisors? Shall the curriculum and teaching at Victoria College remain under the authority of the University, or will the College also attempt to give courses not given at the University, with the addition of staff members upon whom other institutions and organizations have the first call? Many of the courses which may be suggested are already well taught by local business and craft schools.

"The local public must decide this issue. If the electors of Victoria want this experiment, the University cannot object.

"Things move FAST on my job!"

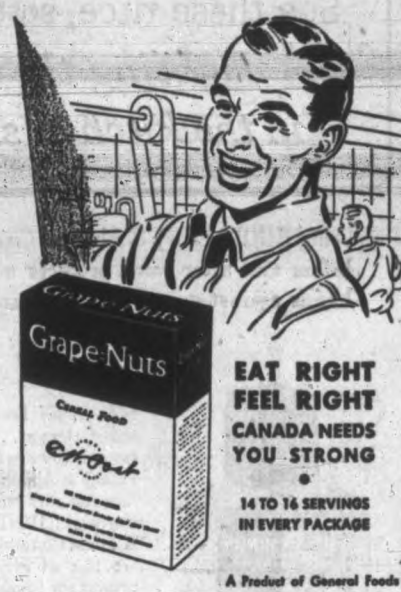

"ENERGY, and more energy—that's what I need to keep abreast of my fast-moving war production job. And I find in Grape-Nuts just the kind of energy food I need!"

Canadians everywhere work better and feel better because their morning dish of Grape-Nuts gives them carbohydrates for energy, phosphorus for teeth and bones, and iron for the blood. And man!—how they enjoy their breakfast! For Grape-Nuts have a distinctly different flavor that makes a hit with everybody! It's malty-rich, sweet-as-a-nut!

However, this new departure may end very quickly, the happy relations which Victoria College has built up with the University during the past quarter of a century. This experiment may well terminate the opportunities at present enjoyed by Victoria young people of securing two years of University credit before they leave home. This is our studied conviction.

"The College has grown over the years. We are convinced that within the scope of University control, many new courses can be added and programs in research and adult education can be developed to meet the needs of our people in these changing times, without risking the loss of those definite values accruing to both College and community from the present highly satisfactory affiliation.

SENIORITY QUESTION

"2. The trustees state that the College has attained the highest academic standards, and that Mr. Smith will maintain these. They also attempt to defend their choice on the basis of seniority. If seniority is the operative principle here, how is it that the vice-principal of the Victoria High School is automatically elevated to the position of principal, while the assistant principal and, latterly, the acting principal of the College (E. S. Farr), with more seniority in the service of the Victoria School Board than that of Lieut. Claude Campbell, has been overlooked? Why, too, should an appointment be made which means the displacement of an English instructor with 17 years' service—practically the dismissal of this instructor? Alternatively, the displacement of an English instructor of seven years' experience in colleges and universities across Canada.

"In addition to his administrative duties, it will be necessary for Mr. Smith to instruct in English. Why, then, should not the School Board, before announcing the appointment, have followed the regular practice and sought the approval of the head of the department of English at the University? In other words, we consider that any candidate's ability to teach English in Victoria College can be assessed only by the head of the English department at the University.

"A final and most important question. Why did not the local School Board first consult the other two bodies, the Department of Education and the University Board of Governors, before taking any steps in the appointment? Why did the board permit the announcement of the appointment before the University Board of Governors could meet and give its consent? This incident alone, whereby the senior institution is called upon to "rubber-stamp" the School Board's action, sets a dangerous precedent and gives its own answer as to the likelihood of the affiliation continuing.

"The board shows some lack of candor in its statement that the staff of the College will support

Mr. Smith loyally." Naturally, those members of any staff who remain on it assume the support of its principal as a point of professional ethics. But the board makes the above statement in order to refute the rumor that the Victoria College staff was opposed to this appointment. The facts are that on Nov. 18 the staff submitted in writing its objections to the appointment of Mr. Smith. The text of the letter, unanimously signed by all members of the permanent staff, with the exception of the two College candidates, follows, dated Oct. 18, 1943:

"F. G. Mulliner, Esq., chairman, Board of School Trustees, Victoria, B.C.

"Dear Sir—Now that the appointment of a principal is before the board, the members of the staff of Victoria College venture to express their unanimous opinion that, other things being equal, a member of the present staff should be selected. We consider that the adoption of any course involving a reorganization of teaching duties would prove a serious disadvantage to our students.

"If, on the other hand, the board has reason not to appoint a member of the present staff, we then respectfully submit the request that the person chosen should come to us with a record of successful experience in university teaching and administration.

"Since it is our conviction that this is a most critical moment in the history of the College, we feel it our duty to place our considered opinion before the board.

"Respectfully yours,

"(Signed) Jeffrey A. Cunningham, H. Ruth Humphrey, G. P. Black, E. J. Savannah, Sydney G. Pettit, W. Harry Hickman, W. Gordon Fields, R. T. Wallace, Dorothy M. Cruickshank."

NO PERSONAL ISSUE

"The stand taken in the letter was unanimously reiterated by sending a deputation, headed by our registrar, to a School Board meeting. The School Board disregarded this unanimous opinion of the staff, neither did it consider it relevant to make Mr. Smith aware of it, nor to mention it in their statement of Nov. 20.

"In no part of this controversy are personal issues involved. The staff includes warm friends of Mr. Smith, who would regret such misinterpretation of their action.

"What is involved is the failure of the School Board to take into account the essential nature of the situation with which it has dealt so summarily: namely, the conditions under which an institution functioning at the university level can continue its record of services to the public which supports it.

"(Signed) E. S. Farr, Jeffrey A. Cunningham, Ruth Humphrey, William Robbins, E. J. Savannah, G. P. Black, Sydney G. Pettit, W. G. Fields, Dorothy M. Cruickshank."

Is This Peak Due to a Misunderstanding?

On Sunday evenings the load on the long-distance telephone lines rises after seven o'clock. We assume that this is because many people still do not know that the low rates which come into effect at 7 p.m. on weekdays are in effect ALL DAY on Sundays.

If we could spread the Sunday calls throughout the day instead of having them bunched in the evening, more long-distance operators would be able to have their Sunday evenings off. That is why we are giving this publicity to the fact that the low rates are in effect ALL DAY on Sunday.

Lamb Stuing

In Norway it's "STUING" ... in Canada it's "stew". But regardless of its name, it's delicious, when made according to this new wartime recipe.

Brown 3 cups of cooked lamb, cut in pieces, in 1 tablespoon of fat and place in a greased baking dish. Add 1 cup of cooked, cubed carrots, 1 cup of cooked potato balls and 8 small, cooked onions. Mix 1 tablespoon of H.P. Sauce with leftover gravy and combine with meat and vegetables. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover and bake in a hot oven about 450 degrees for about 25 minutes.

Buy a bottle of H.P. Sauce today and try this recipe. H.P. that grand, English type sauce adds a wonderful flavour also to meats, fish, salads, fowl and sandwiches.

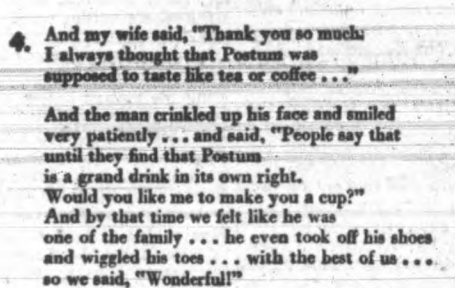

1. The other evening ... somebody rang our front door bell ... and I didn't want to put on my shoes so I said, "Put out the lights. Quick!" which my wife did ... meanwhile, peering through the curtains, she said "It isn't the air-raid warden or anybody we know, and he doesn't look as if he was after money" ... so I said, "Let him in" ... which she did.

2. And the man said "Good Evening Friend" and for a nasty moment I was afraid he'd ask us if we'd been listening to our radio or what shaving cream I liked. But he was all right.

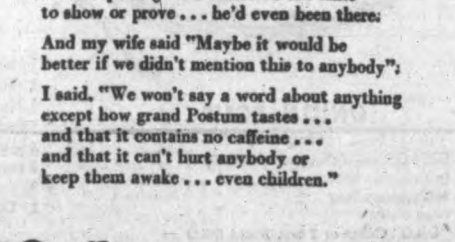

3. He just sat down, friendly like and told us about Postum ... how good it is. He was a good talker and he had our mouths fairly watering ... to taste that rich, full-bodied flavor ... that heart-warming goodness.

4. And my wife said, "Thank you so much I always thought that Postum was supposed to taste like tea or coffee ..." And the man crinkled up his face and smiled very patiently ... and said, "People say that until they find that Postum is a grand drink in its own right. Would you like me to make you a cup?" And by that time we felt like he was one of the family ... he even took off his shoes and wiggled his toes ... with the best of us ... so we said, "Wonderful!"

5. So he made us some Postum ... using our hot water and his Postum ... from a package which he carried in his pocket ... and it was wonderful ... wonderful.

6. Then he stood up and said "Good Night All." And there was a little puff of smoke and he disappeared. He was gone just like that ... with nothing but the package of Postum on the table to show or prove ... he'd even been there. And my wife said "Maybe it would be better if we didn't mention this to anybody." I said, "We won't say a word about anything except how grand Postum tastes ... and that it contains no caffeine ... and that it can't hurt anybody or keep them awake ... even children."

Postum comes in two convenient forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup simply by adding boiling water or hot milk; Postum Cereal Beverage, made like coffee in pot, percolator or slow-coffee-maker.

Plebiscite Sought By League Seeking Exclusion of Japs

Ottawa dispatches by Bruce Hutchison reporting that Canada would allow Japanese after the war to return to their former homes in British Columbia from other parts of the country where they are now held in internment camps, today brought a public statement from Sidney d'Esterre, president of the B.C. Immediate Action League.

"Mr. Hutchison's dispatch should arouse us to the fact that we as a province are unorganized to repel what doubtless even now is being organized and set in motion by the Japanese sympathizers throughout Canada," said Mr. d'Esterre, who came down from his Comox home to organize a campaign "to keep B.C. free from Japs-forevermore."

"Too many are treating the Japanese menace both during and after this war with an unbelievable levity and are not taking one ounce of thought or preparedness for the tomorrow," Mr. d'Esterre said.

"Remember, as Mrs. L. West has said in her very able letter in the Victoria Times, that no matter how many generations separate today's Japanese here from their own country, no matter in what country they are born, for ever and ever Japan expects their abject allegiance. And what is more, gets it. Nothing save marriage with a foreigner releases a Japanese from his fantastic allegiance to his emperor and fatherland.

"Let us demand a plebiscite for the people of B.C. only, with the simple question, 'Do you vote for the retention of, or repatriation of all Japs?'"

"Let us at least determine that all the Japs, of whom prior to the war 99 per cent were established in our province, shall be distributed fairly through the nine provinces in exact proportion to the population of each province. By that means, Ontario and Ottawa—will get their due quota of Japs. Thus and only thus will Ottawa awake to the danger of the Japs and become aware of the firm resolve of the people of B.C. not to permit their demands to be flagrantly disregarded."

"Failing any such action on our part, we shall see our returned men ousted from fishing, farming, berry growing, logging and other opportunities which should rightly be theirs."

"Every locality should send to Ottawa its emphatic protest and bring the matter before its local branch of the Canadian Legion. The Legion is a great power for good and vitally concerned with the future of B.C. I feel that an endorsement by the Legion of a demand for repatriation of all Japs cannot fail to bring home to Ottawa the determination of the people here in this matter. Then the External Affairs Department at Ottawa cannot plead ignorance of B.C.'s view on the Jap question."

Gyros Hear History Of Plastic Industry

Should British Columbia go ahead with its proposed steel industry, it may find itself in the plastic business," Ed Savannah of Victoria College, told a luncheon meeting of the Gyro Club in Empress Hotel, Monday, when he gave an address on the subject of "Plastics."

Though several materials needed for a plastic industry are not obtainable here, B.C. has vast coal, coke and cellulose resources, he said. Cellulose resources from timber, he continued, form the basis of cellulose plastics and he pictured plastic-treated wood being shipped from here to plastic manufacturing centres.

Tracing the history of plastics, he said it dated back to 1869 when John Wesley Hyatt made celluloid from gun cotton and camphor, to provide the first synthetic, organic plastic. He described thermoplastic material as that which could be melted and used over. Thermosetting plastic which is used in the manufacture of plane parts and camera parts, however, has dimensional stability, he said, and could not be changed.

Mr. Savannah told his audience of nylon, which he said was "a definite chemical compound." T. E. Watkins gave the vote of thanks and Fred Hawes, president, was in the chair.

Imperial Bank Profits Remain Same As Last Year

Gross assets and deposits are both at a record high, it is revealed in the annual financial statement of Imperial Bank of Canada forwarded to shareholders yesterday. Profits are almost exactly the same as a year ago after provision of taxes, but the lower dividend rate prevailing in the year results in a larger carry forward, so that surplus stands at $846,925, compared with $719,991 12 months previously. At the present rate of dividend, shareholders receive approximately 3½ per cent on the employed capital.

Shareholders will meet next Wednesday. At $269,765,880, gross assets are $36,000,000 greater than a year ago and deposits, at $249,079,744, are up $28,000,000. Cash assets, including notes of or deposits with the Bank of Canada, total $45,986,815, which is over 18 per cent of the total liabilities to the public. Cash was $41,156,961 a year ago.

Including call loans in Canada, quickly available assets now amount to $190,389,025, or about 75 per cent of the total liabilities to the public.

BORROWINGS REDUCED

War conditions are reflected in the balance sheet. With deposits substantially higher, current loans are lower, resulting from reduction in borrowings by private business generally. The funds have, rather, continued to go into Dominion government short term securities. The total of Dominion and provincial securities maturing in less than two years now is $90,508,640, compared with $68,679,342 a year earlier. The same classes of securities maturing in more than two years now total $46,471,310, compared with $38,283,298 formerly. Municipal securities are $4,771,728, compared with $5,407,082 a year ago. Other securities total $532,879, up from $60,055 formerly. Call loans, at $2,127,432 are up somewhat in the year, but still are below the figure reported two years ago.

Loans to provinces and to municipalities both have declined, the two together now standing at $3,096,418, compared with $3,577,089 a year ago. Current loans still are highly important, standing at $69,023,146 at the close of the year, compared with $75,468,641 12 months previously. Bank premises are now carried in the balance sheet at $5,182,452, a decline from $5,424,633. Letters of credit are somewhat reduced.

Deposits by the public bearing interest are up over $12,000,000 to $112,569,175, while deposits not bearing interest are increased $10,000,000 to $82,619,352. Dominion government deposits are lower, being $14,242,776, compared with $16,046,267 formerly, but provincial deposits are increased substantially to $24,489,260, against $18,808,068 formerly. Note circulation, in accordance with the statute which gradually is reducing the note circulation of all chartered banks, is down to $1,852,770, compared with $3,470,817 a year ago. The chartered banks are scheduled to reach their minimum note circulation of 25 per cent of the paid-up capital in January, 1945.

Poultry Conference In Ottawa Jan. 10

Two poultry breeders from British Columbia will be among representatives sent to the National Poultry Conference, to be held in Ottawa, Jan. 10, for a field discussion of all phases of egg and poultry production and for planning a sales program for the postwar period, members of the Victoria Poultry Association learned at their meeting, in the Y.M.C.A.

Poultrymen will gather in New Westminster, Thursday, to discuss the conference.

Members of the association agreed that a maximum production of eggs and poultry had to be the first consideration under current and immediate postwar circumstances and felt that it was a foregone conclusion that two production breeders would be chosen as representatives to the conference. They expressed the opinion, however, that at least one representative at the Ottawa conference should be chosen from the Standard Bred Poultry Industry in Canada.

Scattered throughout the country there are small poultry associations and special breed clubs, wherein men and women, boys and girls want to see standard (exhibition) bred poultry, members learned. They felt that after the war there would be a great demand for "beautiful birds" in many countries.

Those poultrymen and women interested were asked to contact A. G. Nive, 3500 Douglas, secretary of the Victoria Poultry Association.

Kenneth Ferguson Dies at Home Here

LATE KENNETH FERGUSON

Kenneth Ferguson, 58, manager of Imperial Life in Victoria for many years, died at his home, 1418 Fernwood Road, Monday night, after a long illness.

He was born in St. Thomas, Ont., where his ancestors settled at the close of the war of 1812. His great-grandfather was Gen. Phillips, who was second in command of the British forces in North America during the revolutionary war of 1776.

Receiving his education in the public schools and the St. Thomas Collegiate Institute, Mr. Ferguson moved to Alberta at an early age and engaged in the retail lumber business. Arriving in Victoria in 1910, Mr. Ferguson at once took a keen interest in the welfare of the community. That year he was elected to the directorate of the Canadian Club, a position he held until the time of his death. For two years he was president of the Canadian Club and during his term of office many notable persons were guests of the club among them being the Duke of Windsor, when he was Prince of Wales, and his brother, Prince George, Duke of Kent, and the late Lord Willington, then Governor-General of Canada.

It was Mr. Ferguson who interested the Canadian Club in the encouragement of the study of Canadian history by the students of Victoria schools. He also took a prominent part in the establishment of Victoria College, as well as bringing pressure to bear on the Dominion government for legislation providing for and clearly defining Canadian nationality and citizenship.

Mr. Ferguson was secretary of the board of managers when the present First-United Church was constructed. He was also a charter member of the Victoria Kiwanis Club and was one of its first presidents, later becoming governor of the Pacific Northwest Kiwanis District. He also had served for a term on the Victoria School Board and had been a member of the executive of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and a member of the Chamber of Commerce. He was for many years a member of the Pacific Club and the Union Club, the Uplands Golf Club, Britannia Lodge, No. 73, A.F. and A.M. Columbia Lodge, No. 2, L.O.O.F. and was also a past exalted ruler of Victoria Elks Lodge.

Mr. Ferguson leaves his widow and three daughters, Grace and Pamela at home, Mrs. Allan Gordon, Vancouver; two sons, F.O. Robert Ferguson, R.C.A.F., instructing at Calgary; Hugh Ferguson, R.C.A.F., in England; a brother, Gregor, in Toronto; four sisters, Grace, Jessie and Marjorie, in Victoria, and Mrs. J. S. Finlay, Salt Lake City, at present in Victoria. One son, Jack, a prominent athlete here some years ago, was reported missing last year in air operations over Germany.

Charles Jenkins Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Charles Christopher Jenkins, 61, Toronto journalist and author, died in a hospital here Monday, following an operation 10 days ago. Mr. Jenkins served as reporter and city editor with various daily newspapers of prairie and central Canada. At one time he was managing editor of the Fort William Daily Times-Journal, and later joined the MacLean Publishing Company as a feature writer. He also was radio editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail for some years.

U.S. Senator

Barbour Dies
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator W. Warren Barbour, 55, of New Jersey, died Monday night at his home—the third congressman to die within 24 hours. The senator's death of coronary thrombosis was announced by the Capitol physician, Dr. George W. Calver, as the House of Representatives was observing a 24-hour recess out of respect to two of its late members, Henry B. Steagall of Alabama and J. William Ditter of Pennsylvania.

Major Hockey

Toronto Meets Boston

Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs clash tonight in a National Hockey League game which could fittingly be billed as a consolation contest.

After their week-end games against Montreal Canadiens, the two clubs should have something in common. The Flying Frenchmen blitzed Toronto 7 to 2 Saturday and mauled Bruins 13 to 4 at Montreal Sunday.

Manager Art Ross promises that something radical will be done if Bruins fail to improve sharply before the home fans to-night. Coach Happy Day probably feels the same way about Leafs, who owe their present relatively high estate—a second place tie with Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings—to the fact that three of their four victories this season have been scored at the expense of New York's basement-dwelling Rangers.

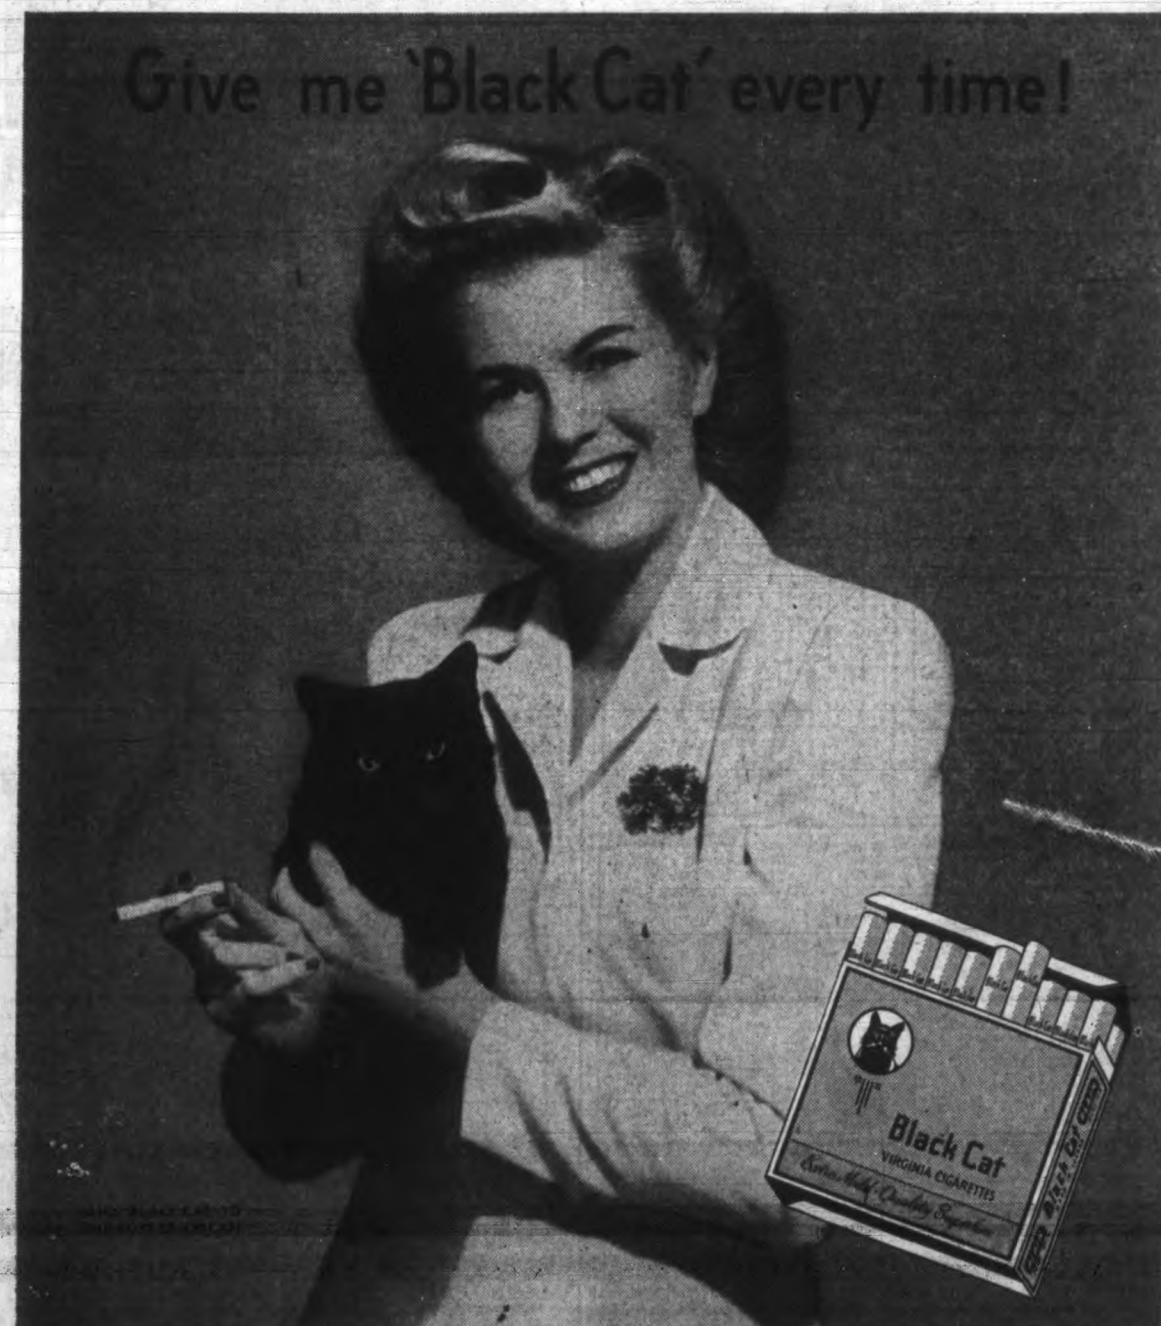

SHUFFLES FORWARDS

Ross missed the Montreal massacre, but after weighing a report from playing coach Ditt Clapper, announced that the only change for tonight's game will involve a shuffling around of Boston's forward lines. Buzz Boll will return to action as right wing with Art Jackson and Bill Cowley, shifting Herb Cain to the second line with Don Gallinger at centre and Ben Guidolin at left wing.

Chuck Scherza will centre a new third line, flanked by Busher Jackson and Norm Calladine. Ossie Aubuchon and Yank Boyd will not be dressed because of the

Winnipeg Army Tops In Hockey League

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Army, cellar occupants of the Winnipeg Services Senior Hockey League last season, took over first place Monday night with their second straight win—a 5 to 4 triumph over H.M.C.S. Chip-paws.

The soldiers ran into a two-goal lead in the first period, got two counters to Navy's three in the middle session, and then saw Navy deadlock the count midway in the third, while Bob Kirkpatrick was in the cooler. Five minutes later Len Halderson snared a pass from Paul Lavallee for the victory counter.

Army's other goals were scored by Lavallee, Steve Wocny, Harold Johnson and Johnny Horeck. Loud Medynski bagged a pair for the Navy, with Joe Bell and Remi Van Daele getting the others.

Additional Awards Given Barney Ross

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barney Ross, the pint-sized Chicago lad who punched his way to world boxing titles, then punched out a name for himself as a marine hero on Guadalcanal, was honored Monday with the silver star and a presidential citation.

Sergeant Ross, now stationed at the New York navy yard, was acclaimed a year ago when he protected three wounded comrades until rescue patrols arrived.

His "great personal courage and sincere devotion to his comrades were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service," Monday's citation said.

For that feat, Ross also won the Edward J. Neil Memorial Trophy for the Boxing Writers' Association of New York as "the outstanding boxer of 1942."

Barney, now 34, held the lightweight boxing championship from 1933 to 1935, and the welterweight crown from 1936 to 1938. He enlisted in the United States marines in April, 1942.

Phillies President Out of Baseball For Gambling on His Club

CHICAGO (AP)—President William D. Cox of the Philadelphia Phillies, National League Club, was ousted from organized baseball today by Commissioner K. M. Landis for betting on baseball games in violation of major league ruling.

Landis' ruling declared Cox "permanently ineligible to hold any office or employment" with the Phillies, "or any other club or league party to the major league agreement or major-minor league agreement."

The commissioner said Cox admitted placing bets on games. Landis had asked Cox to appear at a hearing in New York, Dec. 4, to answer the charges, but the Philadelphia owner wrote that he had submitted to the club his resignation as president and director. He said he did not see "any useful purpose would be served" by attending the hearing.

Landis said Cox stated to him in New York Nov. 3 and later in Chicago that he had placed 15 or 20 bets of from $25 to $100 a game on Philadelphia to win.

Cox told him the betting began about a week after the 1943 baseball season started, and continued "up to about May 20," when Cox said he first learned of the rule prohibiting such betting.

By PETE SALLAWAY

IN AN ATTEMPT to inject new life into British Columbia's senior men's basketball there is a move on foot to organize an intercity league, featuring two Vancouver clubs and Patricia Bay Flyers, present Canadian champions, and the Victoria Army.

The mainland teams would be Varsity and an all-star club composed of the better players of Shores, Stacys and Lauries.

Maury Van Vleet, Varsity coach, interviewed officials of the local league Saturday night, to learn their reaction to the proposal.

The local moguls will get together tonight to talk over the plan with a view to reaching some decision. Big stumbling block to Victoria's entry into such a circuit is the lack of a playing floor where a large enough crowd can be accommodated.

The league is working under a terrific handicap at the High School with the spectators limited to 200.

It is a great deal to carry the financial undertaking required for intercity games. Victoria basketballers may make a serious effort to have this restriction removed. They point out that the High School gym has six exits and is one of the finest equipped buildings in the city in this regard.

The Vancouver situation is well explained by Johnny Park who writes as follows in his column in the Province:

"Unless some new and potent playing talent is uncovered within the next month, Vancouver may be without its District Basketball League. All is not well in at least two of the four camps in the senior loop, according to the latest developments.

The manpower shortage is chiefly responsible for this, and it would occasion little surprise in some quarters if Shores and Stacys were forced to fold through lack of hoop players. This is not idle gossip. The other day a proposition was advanced to amalgamate these two clubs with Lauries and form a Vancouver team for a new loop with Varsity and Pat Bay Flyers.

The main obstacle to this suggestion was Laurie Liddle, who is completely sold on his players and team. Laurie realizes he hasn't got a winning combination for championship honors, but he wants the lads who have been loyal to his club to get a chance to play in preference to bolstering with six or eight men from Stacys and Shores. In other words, he wants to carry on as Lauries.

"One or two of the outstanding stars with Shores and Stacys are seriously considering transferring or quitting the game, and it seems probable that there will be a definite change in the personnel of the league right after Christmas."

Victoria's sports public really turned out en masse Saturday to lend support to one of the smartest week-end cards offered here in years. The four major attractions, McKechnie Cup rugby, swimming gala, hockey and basketball all played before big attendances, the best evidence that this city is very much sport conscious. In the intercity competition Victoria's representatives clicked just about 100 per cent, the only setback coming in the exhibition rugby match between Victoria College and Varsity freshmen.

Close to 1,000 spectators applauded the spectacular diving show presented by Al Patnik and George Athans at Crystal Garden Saturday night, and judging from the exhibition, a majority of them would come back with their friends for another showing in the near future. It was one more instance proving the fact: Victorians will turn out in big numbers to see first class artists.

There is little likelihood of the boys showing again this year, but arrangements were made tentatively by Archie McKinnon for another exhibition next year. In addition to watching two artists in their particular field, the crowd saw a couple of grand fellows Saturday. Their athletic forte is diving. But they're far from being one-sided. Al is now representing a major U.S. welding firm in the northwest, following graduation from Ohio State as a welding engineer, and George is studying medicine following graduation from the University of Washington's physical education course.

While the spectator is interested primarily in the show and the performers, it will be some satisfaction to those who attended the meet to know the co-operations between the "V" swimming club, sponsors, and Jack Speck, manager of the Garden, left nothing to be desired. The smoothness of the relationship augurs well for future aquatic events.

In minor division basketball games played Monday night, Navy defeated the Royals, 46 to 23; All-Blacks turned back Yarrows, 34 to 27, and K.V.'s triumphed over the Army, 48 to 22.

Winnipeg Bombers Figure Hamilton No Super Outfit

WINNIPEG (CP)—Coach Reg. Threlfall, who will lead his Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers against Hamilton Wildcats for the Dominion rugby football crown Saturday at Toronto Varsity Stadium, can't be convinced the Wildcats are anything approaching the super team described in recent newspaper reports.

After tuning his ear to the broadcast of the Hamilton-Lachine R.C.A.F. eastern championship game Saturday, the Bomber mentor pointed out that in their last two games the Wildcats scored one touchdown on a fumble and another in the dying seconds of play.

"That doesn't suggest a powerful offence, does it, for a team that is reported to possess so much mustard on attack? Two touchdowns in two games and one of them unearned."

Threlfall drove the Bombers through their first matinee workout of the season during the week-end and spent more than an hour on pass drill with Brian Quinn and Dave Greenberg doing the chucking. Both long and short tossing plays were attempted and a real aerial offensive looms in the team's plans for the east-west engagement with Hamilton.

Nate Shore, talented snap, who has been missing from practices with an injured shoulder, was in uniform at the drill, but Johnny Lake, star backfielder, was still an absentee.

Ches McCance, whose educated toe and sparkling backfield play were prominent in the drive to the western title, has been elected to call the plays in the game with Wildcats. McCance will be a quarterback in name only, however, as he will call the signals from his left half position.

St. Regis Surprises By Deadlocking Navy

Jackson Stars In Nets for Mainlanders

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—After almost three weeks of campaigning the line-up of the new Pacific Coast Hockey Association is beginning to take definite shape with R.C.A.F. Sea-hawks out in front, a point ahead of Victoria Navy followed by Victoria Machinery Depot and Vancouver St. Regis. New Westminster Lodestars and Nanaimo Army are tied for the cellar, probably more by bad luck than bad playing.

St. Regis, with something of the earmarks of a high-priced N.H.L. outfit, back-checked like fiends Monday night to hold Victoria's Navy to a 1 to 1 tie in overtime in one of the best games of the season.

The tie gave the Vancouver squad the point needed to put them into undisputed fourth place and short-changed any Navy hopes of immediately overhauling the league-leading Flyers, leaving them a point back in second place.

Navy's Hal Brown produced most of the sailor fireworks, putting them into a goal lead in the opening period on a breakaway play that gave Percy Jackson the chance to save. But that was the only goal the sailors were able to get; despite a number of other chances. Goalie Jackson, the heavy St. Regis defence and a forward line that back-checked Navy's every move proved just too much to overcome.

But the Navy's lone marker looked like a game-winner until early in the third when, with Navy a man short, Romeo Martel banged in the tying goal from well out on the left wing.

EARLY GOAL
The game was less than seven minutes old when Brown opened the scoring for Navy. Coming down the boards on a breakaway with no one but Jackson to beat, he put the rubber into the net to put the sailors in front.

But from there on it was anyone's game. St. Regis' defence was a veritable stone wall and the scoring line, particularly diminutive Lude Palm, back-checked like fiends.

Navy's goal began to look big as the game went into the third period without further scoring until the three-minute mark. With Navy's Bernie Strongman off on a penalty, St. Regis went on the attack and playing the odd man up, Martel banged in the tying marker from 25 feet out on the left wing.

The overtime failed to produce a game-winner. Navy's Brown was in close twice firing rubber at Jackson, but the former Vancouver Lions' goalie was unbeatable.

SUMMARY
First Period—1, Navy, Brown, 6:07. Penalty—Richardson.
Second Period—No score.
Third Period—2, St. Regis, R. Martel, 3:43. Penalties—Strongman, L. Martel.
Overtime Period—No scoring. Penalty—Strongman.

Dear Miss Dix—What should be mother's attitude towards her son's divorced wife when there is no fault on either side, and their parting was just because of incompatibility that made it impossible for them to live together in happiness? My son married a girl to whom I became as devoted as if she had been my own daughter, and she loved me as much as I loved her, but she and my son could not get along together. I still love this girl. Take the MILKY WAY to MORNING FRESHNESS

...and wake up FULL OF LIFE!

Suppose you stay up too late tonight, eat indiscreetly, overindulge in drink or smoke, or suppose you are under a constant strain... you just know excess acid will cause distress and loss of sleep... if you don't do something about it!

But how easy it is to bound out of bed in the morning just bubbling over with that glorious freshness that makes you feel good all over.

Just ask for Phillips' Milk of Magnesia at any drug store today. It's an OVERNIGHT route to bright mornings—a "Milky Way to Morning Freshness."

Take it tonight, according to the directions. And tomorrow, see how much brighter the whole world seems to be.

How this "Double-Fresher" works its overnight wonders

1. IT ALKALIZES almost instantly...sweetens acid sources, that causes stomach distress, heartburn, gas...and restless nights.
2. A MILD LAXATIVE...so gentle that without any thought of embarrassing urgency, you can take it any time.

DIVORCE POSES PROBLEM

Answer: With the divorce rate at the all-time high at present, and certain to go over the peak in the near future when all the hasty war marriages come up for settlement, Emily Post will certainly have to write a new chapter to her book of etiquette, defining our attitude towards those who have once been members of our family and who no longer sustain that relationship towards us.

In the past no such complications arose. Husbands and wives did not divorce each other unless they had some unforgivable grievance against the party of the other part, and when they did their respective families took up the feud and the whole atmosphere was surcharged with hate. Nobody then would have thought of inviting a divorced couple to a party at which they would meet the ex-partner of their bosoms, but now a hostess doesn't hesitate to send a divorcee into dinner with her former husband and they chat away, apparently in the most amiable fashion, about the good old days when they were married to each other.

Perhaps this is due to Hollywood influence where divorce is so common that the proper gesture when the divorcee is invited is to grant for those who are being parted is to pay each other the most fulsome compliments, and say that while they will no longer be husband and wife, they will always be the dearest of friends.

Wherever our troops must live and fight in rigorous climates, there you will find in their equipment, Stanfield's Underwear. That is because a large part of Stanfield's production of underwear is going to our armed forces. But... we are still providing underwear for civilian use, though some dealers may not always have a full range of styles and sizes.

If you must buy new underwear, choose Stanfield's. Then you will be sure of quality, good fit, long wear, and plenty of comfort.

Esquimalt Studies Traffic Jams

Following complaint of traffic conditions on Canteen and Esquimalt Roads by F. B. McConnell, personnel director of Yarrow's Ltd., Esquimalt Municipal Council appointed a committee of four to investigate the matter at their meeting Monday night. Reeve Alex Lockley, P. J. McCulloch, foreman of works; Chief of Police V. Pecknold and Councilor J. P. A. Christiansen, chairman of works, were appointed to the committee.

"The sidewalk is empty but the roads are jammed," Councilor T. Hadfield said. "Cars have to crawl behind the people who walk on the car tracks and road."

Mr. McConnell made the following suggestions for the alleviation of the congestion: Hard surfacing of Canteen Road, removal of trees on west side of the road; widening of sidewalk on Canteen Road to 12 feet and placing of a traffic control man at junction of Canteen and Esquimalt Roads from 7.30 to 8 in the morning and from 4.30 until 4.45 in the evening. He also suggested that a brighter light be installed at the corner of Canteen and Esquimalt Roads and that it be left burning until after 8 in the morning.

Council was informed by the Controller of Construction for Department of Munitions and Supply that the government could not consider relaxation of the recent building restrictions. Northern Construction Company were given a six-month extension on a lease of lots on which they built temporary bunkhouses. Lots were leased for $70.

C. H. Unkume, assistant regional wood fuel officer, wrote to council that he had no knowledge of a diversion of millwood from Great Central Lake to the mainland and asked council to provide him with the source of what he termed "false rumor."

A letter from the district fuel officer stating that the ceiling price on green fir bushwood was $12 a cord was received and filed. Also received and filed was a letter from the National War Finance Committee thanking Esquimalt for use of the Municipal Hall.

Foreman of works recommended that a house at 517 Paradise Street, which was in a "d"-dated condition, be dismantled and council agreed to inspect the premises before taking action. G. W. Stope was given permission to cut down a tree. Council agreed to give the usual increase in social assistance allowances for Christmas. A letter from Miss Alice Pooley was referred to the municipal solicitor. A letter from the city clerk of Victoria regarding post-war rehabilitation projects for Greater Victoria and automobile ferry rates was laid on the table for further consideration, and a letter from the medical director of the B.C. Cancer Institute was referred to the municipal health officer. T. J. Brundson was advised that cost of a lot he wished to purchase was $105. An offer of $50 for a lot was accepted from V. Wright.

By-laws regarding milk, public health, the pound and dog licenses were laid on the table until the coming year.

School Library Service Increased 2 Per Cent

Library service to one-room schools in various parts of the province has been increased until now it includes 187 schools, compared with 153 at this time last year. C. K. Morrison, provincial librarian and superintendent of the public library commission said today.

"This 22 per cent growth has been made possible by the increased appropriation from the Department of Education," Mr. Morrison said. "With the co-operation of the minister (Hon. H. G. T. Perry) we have also been able to improve the standard of the service."

Liquor coupons are assuming a definite market value in the field of barter. Some citizens who find four dozen pints of beer, or one dozen and bottle of whiskey beyond their requirements, are trading for tea, sugar, meat or gasoline coupons. It may be on the fringe of blackmarket-ing, but credit is due to the efficient Oak Bay housewife, whose eyes sparkled with the pride of accomplishment as she told of trading her November liquor coupons for 10 pounds of sugar to add to her stock of preserves.

Remember when B.C. taxi drivers protested they were being treated like criminals because they were called upon to be finger-printed? Now every person who appears on a program for the troops has to be finger-printed before being admitted to a camp, and they feel flattered by the distinction. . . . Amorous or other drunks provide no problem for Victoria wartime girl taxi drivers. "If they give trouble we just cruise around until we meet a policeman, and he takes them off our hands," says one of the girl drivers.

At the liquor coupon store an elderly Chinese was told he had to show his registration card. He was the only unembarrassed man in the store as he went through the procedure necessary to produce it from its place of security—pinned to the inside of his undershirt. . . . Half a dozen oranges, half a dozen eggs per family rationing to customers. . . . Return of peanut butter has been welcomed by sandwich-makers. . . . Canned pilchards beaten up with salad dressing, which is back on the shelves, is recommended as a fair substitute for canned salmon. . . . But the housewife, struggling to provide variety for the lunchboxes, can, in desperation, always offer at least two choices for everything—take it or leave it.

Police said the second collision occurred at Blanshard and View. They said the Smith car was proceeding east on View while Constable Davidson was driving Stewart's car north on Blanshard.

In city police court today Stewart was charged with dangerous driving. He was remanded until Wednesday without plea or election. He is out on $250 bail.

Current city tax collections continued $6,758 above the amount received for the corresponding period last year when figures were totaled at the beginning of the week in the assessor-collector's department.

To date, with approximately $10,000 less to collect this year than last on the comparative basis of the 1942 and 1943 levies, the city has received $1,307,640.

In the arrears division, where the amount outstanding at the beginning of this year was $54,200 less than that outstanding last year, the city has received $127,613 to date against $163,633 at the corresponding time in 1942.

A considerable spurt in current collections is anticipated in the next week or so before the final penalty of 3 per cent is added to accounts outstanding on Dec. 2.

3 In Hospital After Accidents

Two R.A.F. airmen, LAC. P. Brennan and LAC. A. Grant were removed to Royal Jubilee Hospital at 2 this morning for treatment of cuts and bruises suffered when the car in which they were riding crashed into a stone on Quadra near Falmouth.

Neither Lois Glust, driver of the car, nor Irene Rosala, passenger, both of Seattle, were hurt.

The two airmen were released from hospital today. The car was considerably damaged.

Meanwhile naval hospital here reported the condition of P.O. James Greene, who suffered a broken neck Saturday afternoon when the car in which he was riding with three other naval petty officers failed to make a turn at Signal Hill, as very critical.

Thirteen-year-old Ernest Copp, 165 Joseph Street, was removed to Royal Jubilee Hospital Monday evening suffering a possible fracture of the right ankle. The bicycle he was riding at Quadra and Fort was struck, city police said, by a car driven by L. Stewart, 1571 Hampshire.

Keen Interest Displayed By Public As Crew Makes Lorna D Shipshape

Knots of interested people stop and watch from the Causeway as the Pacific-roving Davidge family busy themselves getting the 48-foot schooner Lorna D shipshape after her 81-day voyage from Tahiti.

The staunch, sea-begrimed craft, its 62-year-old owner and skipper, A. J. (Joe) Davidge; his wife Lorna; their 27-year-old son Dick and Jasper Moore, copra plantation owner, making his way back to his former home in Gloucester, Mass., rival the war news in the public interest.

"I'm looking for a place to haul her out so we can clean the barnacles off her hull," said Skipper Davidge this morning as he spliced rope in the cockpit of the little ship which proved her seaworthiness in cruising to the South Pacific and back without mishap.

"What's your next move, skipper?"

"I'm not sure right now," he mused. "You see, I am not as young as I used to be. I get a touch of rheumatism once in a while. But don't get the idea that I'm losing my activities. Oh no! Why only Monday I challenged Paul Grau to climb to the mast-head or race him along the Causeway and he didn't take me up."

Paul Grau is an old ship-builder of Victoria who helped Joe Davidge build the Lorna D at Maple Bay and he was one of the first of his old friends to greet him on his return from the South Seas.

It took eight years to build the Lorna D at Maple Bay. She was the dream ship of the Davidges. They had dreamed of the romance of Tahiti, Papeete, the Society Islands, the turquoise skies and the coral atolls. Through years of disappointment it still remained a dream. Then the dream of the year became a reality and one sunny September day in 1938 the Davidges set sail from Victoria.

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—United States marines have swiftly expanded the four-day-old offensive in the equatorial Gilberts by landing on a third atoll even as Japanese defenders continued to put up a fierce fight while falling back from the beaches on the other two.

The fact that the new amphibious operation on Abemama Atoll was announced by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Monday a day after he had disclosed Saturday's initial landings on Makin and Tarawa indicated powerful supporting naval forces remained in the sector.

On Tarawa, which is 80 miles northwest of Abemama, and on Makin, still farther north, "our troops have improved their positions . . . but are still encountering considerable ground resistance," a bulletin said.

(These operations were integrated with others to the southwest. In the Solomons the opposing air forces exchanged blows around the American beachhead on Bougainville; on the Huon Peninsula of New Guinea, Australians and tanks broke to within half a mile of Japanese plateau defences in the jungles which are strategic because they overlook the Allied positions.)

The investment of the Gilberts, a group of more than 15 atolls embracing 166 square miles, would push the Allies more than 700 miles northwest of the Ellice Islands and place a menacing flank force just south of the Marshalls.

(In addition to the progress in the southwest Pacific by the Australians, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communiqué today reported the destruction or damaging of 19,000 tons of enemy shipping by bombing planes over a sector ranging from the Acacia Islands north of Australia, New Britain to New Ireland.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Landings by U.S. marines on three islands in the Gilbert group were described by Secretary of the Navy Knox today as the "beginning of a new campaign against Japan from the central Pacific on a much more direct route toward Japan."

He said two principal strategic objectives were ahead in the campaign, first to drive the Japanese out of the mandated islands and second to shorten by hundreds of miles U.S. supply lines to the southwest Pacific.

NEW YORK (AP)—A Japanese imperial headquarters communiqué broadcast by the Tokyo radio today claimed one Allied medium carrier and one destroyer had been sunk and 125 planes shot down in the Gilbert Islands area since last Friday.

The Japanese losses were not confirmed by an Allied report of losses. Japanese losses were given as 15 planes.

Coast Vegetable Board Exceeded Its Authority—Davey

Charges that the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board had exceeded its authority so that it has become a conspiracy and by-laws have been passed for criminal purposes were made in city court today by H. W. Davey, counsel for G. H. Snow, Victoria and Vancouver wholesale vegetable firm, charged with violating the Natural Products Marketing Act.

Mr. Davey in addressing the court at the conclusion of the hearing at which Gilbert Hogg prosecuted, alleged the board orders were unreasonable and said the board had violated the Criminal Code.

The charge, the first of three on marketing to go to court, was remanded by Magistrate H. C. Hall for judgment. Snow was charged with storing potatoes without license of the board. The charge arose out of 271 sacks of potatoes in Snow's warehouse at Ogden Point, which were seized by the board Oct. 7.

E. A. Mackay, manager of the B.C. Coast Vegetable Marketing Board and the B.C. Coast Marketing Agency, testified that Oct. 9 he saw Snow and asked him why there was a damage action being started in regard to these potatoes.

SHIPPING TO PRAIRIES

He had told him, witness said, that the potatoes had been shipped to Victoria to make up part cars for shipment to the prairies.

Witness quoted Snow as having said he had grown the potatoes and shipped them from his Vancouver warehouse to his Victoria warehouse. He said Snow had told him that if the board did not lay a charge he would withdraw the damage suit.

Snow, who for three or four years has had no authority to store potatoes since the firm's agency contract ended, Mackay said.

In cross-examination witness said that Snow was a large producer and was connected with the Hot-house Sales Agency, which shipped largely from Vancouver Island to the prairie provinces.

He said that in the past potatoes and tomatoes had been shipped together in carload lots because there was a law prohibiting shipment of part cars.

Mackay said he would not have made the seizure if the potatoes were for export and he did not require a permit to store potatoes on a grower.

William Hutchinson, of Lady-smith, board inspector, said he had seen the 271 sacks of potatoes Oct. 6 at the Snow warehouse. Each sack carried a tag that said "Grown and packed by G. H. Snow," he said.

SHIPPED TO ARMY

Witness said he had learned some of the potatoes had been shipped to the army.

R. A. Lipsey, manager of A. P. Slade (Victoria) Ltd., wholesale firm which faces two marketing act charges, testified that Oct. 4 he had procured enough potatoes from the board's agency to supply the army and navy needs except for 33 sacks. He said he borrowed 33 sacks from Snow, because the board could not supply these.

Oct. 5, he said, he borrowed 140 sacks of potatoes from Snow to supply the army and navy needs.

He said he made no payment for these and returned an acknowledgment number of sacks Oct. 18.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hogg, witness said 50 sacks of potatoes had been returned by the army. Counsel suggested the potatoes Slade's secured from Snow were among the returned and they were returned because they were of inferior grade.

Lipsey said he didn't know. He also said he didn't know whether or not the potatoes he borrowed from Snow were tagged or not.

Berlin Destruction Points Up Promise To Ruin 90 Cities

LONDON (AP)—Monday night's was the second heavy bombing of Berlin in five days and the fifth great saturation raid on the Nazi capital since the latter part of August, when the R.A.F. undertook to give the German capital a real taste of the air offensive the Nazis developed.

The raid also pointed up recent remarks by Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris, chief of the R.A.F. bomber command, that the Allies intended to emasculate 90 German cities.

A fleet of nearly 1,000 R.A.F. and Canadian heavy bombers pounded Berlin and Ludwigshafen last Thursday night during which 350 two-ton blockbusters were dropped on the capital. In the last week's assault 32 British and Canadian bombers were lost.

The bomb total dropped on Berlin alone so far this year already has reached 7,500 tons—equal to the total weight dropped on London in the Battle of Britain when the heaviest attack was 450 tons.

88TH RAID

Monday night's raid was the 88th on the German capital since the start of the war.

The correspondent of the Stockholm Aftonbladet said the Kaiser Wilhelm Gedächtnis kirche, a church well known to tourists, near the centre of Berlin's amusement sector, was badly damaged by fire.

The Goeteborg newspaper Handels Och Sjoefarts Tidning said the university on Unter den Linden near the state library and one big downtown theatre were among the buildings still burning today.

"Thousands of people, who obviously were bombed out, crowded into railway stations, subways and other public centres," the paper said.

Count Folke Bernadotte, nephew of King Gustav V and head of the Swedish Red Cross, and Arvid Richert, minister to Germany, both were in the Swedish legation when the alarm sounded. They entered a bomb shelter and when they emerged the shelter was all that was left intact in the legation building.

Would End 'Shotgun' Championship Bouts

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—President Abe J. Greene of the National Boxing Association, saying the N.B.A. wanted to put an end to "shotgun" championship return bouts "not based on championship merit," announced today the organization henceforth would not give championship recognition to any contest unless proposed for the match, first was submitted to the N.B.A. for approval.

Greene, a newspaper editor, said the rule was adopted to prevent champions from "holding up" challengers for return bouts which developed a cycle of such matches, and shut other contenders out of the competition.

No Big Change In Radio Design

"The listening public should not expect too much too soon after the war in the way of changes in radio receiver design," is the warning issued by the Radio Manufacturers Association of Canada. When civil production is resumed the quite new radios will likely be quite similar to the home receivers last produced.

The radio industry today is totally absorbed in the war effort. All of its research and engineering talent is devoted to experimenting and perfecting communication systems and detecting devices for use by the armed forces.

The existing chassis designs of household receiving sets cannot be changed at present as they are frozen by the government. Not until all war requirements have been fully met by the radio industry will its engineers be in a position to apply wartime discoveries and advancements to radios for home consumption.

While as a result of research, accelerated by war, many new radio devices will eventually be produced, no big change in radio design is foreseen for some time. Before some of the new developments can be utilized in home radio sets, present broadcasting facilities will have to be greatly extended. Broadcasting techniques, too, will have to undergo changes. It is expected these advancements will be made gradually and the public will realize them only over a period of years.

Notre Dame Loses Football Prestige

NEW YORK (AP)—Notre Dame defeated Iowa Pre-Flight Saturday in what coach Frank Leahy called the greatest game of his coaching career, but the Irish lost caste with the weekly Associated Press poll to determine the United States' ranking college elevens.

Unanimous five-place choice two weeks ago, the Irish this week lost five first-place tallies and were listed as far back as third by one sports writer.

Ninety-seven of the 102 tickets, however, agreed that the present Notre Dame team, chugging along with a winning streak of nine games this season, was the best. One voter marked his ballot for the Iowa Seahawks, two of them regarded Duke as the premier outfit and two others chose the Colorado College.

The leading teams, with 10 points for each first-place vote, nine for second, etc. (first-place votes in parenthesis):

Notre Dame (97), 1,014; Iowa Pre-Flight (1), 821; Michigan, 628; Purdue, 548; Duke (2), 500; Navy, 432 Army, 410; Northwestern, 197 March Field, 166; Del Monte Pre-Flight, 114.

Suggests Football Clash for Charity

TORONTO (CP)—Controller Fred Hamilton of Toronto said Monday he has wired football clubs in Halifax, Winnipeg and Hamilton a suggestion that the winner of Saturday's Grey Cup final between Hamilton Wildcats and Winnipeg R.C.A.F. bombers meet Halifax Navy here, Dec. 4, in a war charity game.

The Grey Cup contest, emblematic of Canada's senior football championship, usually marks the end of the grid season in the Dominion. But the all-star Navy squad announced its intention to challenge the Grey Cup winners after its application for admission to Grey Cup playoffs was refused.

Guillemaud to Stand For Esquimalt Council

Councillor G. R. Guillemaud, terminating his sixth year on the Esquimalt Municipal Council, will stand for re-election at the polls Dec. 18, he announced Monday night.

"I hope to do all in my power to facilitate an ever-increasing efficiency in municipal administration," he said as he pledged himself to continue his policy of advancing taxpayers' interest. During his term of office, he added, he had encouraged the building of modern homes, thus increasing revenue with a resultant decrease in taxation.

MARITIME HOCKEY

HALIFAX (CP)—Reports received at a week-end meeting of Maritime Amateur Hockey Association officers here indicated that at least three, and perhaps four, senior loops will operate in the Maritimes this winter.

Definitely ready for operations are the Halifax, Cape Breton and A.P.S. circuits, each with three teams. In addition, it is possible a six-team league will run in New Brunswick with teams from Edmundston, Fredericton, Saint John, Sussex, Moncton R.C.A.F. and Scoudouc R.C.A.F.

Sgt. Pilot Ted S. Forbes, R.C. A.F., 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Forbes, Sidney, who has arrived overseas for air duty. Crerar Mentioned As Commander Of Canadian Corps

LONDON (CP)—The Canadian corps now formed in Italy will probably fight as part of the British 8th Army when it goes into the line.

It is no secret that Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery is a strong supporter of Canadian troops and it is likely the commander of the 8th Army was one of the first persons to urge the Allied command to form a Canadian corps in Italy.

Now that the corps has been formed, it seems hardly likely it will not be under his command. If Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commander of the Canadian 1st Corps in Britain, is commanding the Canadian Corps in Italy, it is logical he would work with Gen. Montgomery, for they were close friends in England and Gen. Montgomery has expressed great admiration for Gen. Crerar's leadership.

Since the start of the war Gen. Crerar has been in turn, senior officer at Canadian Military Headquarters in London, chief of the general staff at Ottawa, a divisional commander in Britain and commander of the 1st Corps.

WESTERN FRONT

With a corps in Italy, the Canadian Army is going to make one of its big efforts there, but other equally well-trained Canadian formations in Britain are slated for important tasks in the invasion of western Europe.

It now appears the Canadian army is not going to confine itself merely to one campaign. A large commitment has been made in the Mediterranean theatre, but for four years Canadian leaders have had their eyes on western Europe and it is in this second-front campaign that contributions may be even greater than in the south.

Disclosure that a Canadian corps now in Italy would include at least another division was included in the recent large contingent to arrive there. This would still leave some divisions in England and a large number of corps and army troops and base installations.

CLEO SHANS BEATEN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ellis Phillips, youthful Philadelphia puncher, pulled a big surprise Monday night when he carved out an eight-round decision over Cleo Shans, Los Angeles. Phillips weighed 120½, spotting Shans a 12 to 5 favorite, four pounds.

Brilliant Opening At Metropolitan

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera opened Monday night with one of the greatest operatic spectacles of all time, sung before an auditorium bulging with mink-coated women and men for the most part in dinner coats.

It was the Metropolitan's diamond jubilee. The opera was "Faust" and the performance ran 5½ hours. Moussorgsky did not stint himself on "Faust," but the over-all time was only about four hours.

Labor Here Offers Held for 'Handshakes'

With a desire to co-operate in the campaign, the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council has written Vancouver organizers of the group which is providing Christmas parcels for men and women in the forces in B.C., it was learned from George A. Wilkinson, labour council secretary, today.

"We have asked them how we can help, but we have received no reply yet," Mr. Wilkinson said.

Operating on the slogan "Christmas cheer for the troops near here," the Vancouver unions are making up parcels which they call "handshakes." The collections for the gifts are being made for the "United Labor Christmas Cheer Fund for the United Armed Forces."

Reports from Vancouver indicate a generous response by members of the unions.

600 Nazis Killed In Attack On Yugoslavs

LONDON (AP)—Yugoslav Partisans are fighting a successful defensive action against Field Marshal Rommel's intensified drive in Bosnia and Montenegro while scoring local victories in Serbia; a Yugoslav Liberation Army communiqué said today.

More than 600 Germans and Chetniks were killed and wounded in one Bosnian battle, while several enemy thrusts were repulsed with equally heavy losses, the war bulletin reported.

The Germans suffered one of their most stinging reverses when they were compelled to fall back on the town of Brcko, 85 miles west of Belgrade. All their efforts to break through towards Bjeljina and Gracanica failed, the Yugoslavs said, and they suffered severe losses in killed and wounded.

RIO THEATRE

Charles Dingle, who scored smash hits in both the stage and screen productions of "The Little Foxes," plays the town boss in George Stevens' "The Talk of the Town," Columbia picture co-starring Cary Grant, Jean Arthur and Ronald Colman at the Rio Theatre.

ATLAS THEATRE

Monty Woolley and Gracie Fields, the "happily married" pair of the hilarious new 20th Century-Fox comedy, "Holy Matrimony," now at the Atlas Theatre, were having an argument about marriage on the set: "Men should wear something to show they're married," claimed Gracie, the famed English star of vaudeville, radio and the screen, "Nobody could tell, for instance, by looking at you whether or not you're married. Women, after all, wear rings."

"That's where I've got you, Gracie," drawled the bewhiskered Woolley, "Married men wear something you can spot a block away—last year's clothes!"

CADET THEATRE

When Ann Sothern walked into her portable dressing-room on the set of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Three Hearts for Julia," which is now at the Cadet Theatre, she lost no time opening a surprise package addressed to her from Director Richard Thorpe. It turned out to be a new record album entitled, "The Music Lesson."

Dominion Retains 'Inside Japan'

Japan's admirals and militarists were planning to attack and invade the United States 15 years ago.

They frequently taunted foreign newspaper correspondents with the statement that war with America was inevitable and that Japan would emerge victorious, according to James R. Young, author of the sensational book on the real Japan, "Behind the Rising Sun."

Young, who was imprisoned by the Japs as the climax to his 13 years as a foreign correspondent in Tokyo, served as technical adviser during the filming of RKO Radio's "Behind the Rising Sun," now at the Dominion Theatre, which is based on his book, and which features Margo, Tom Neal, J. Carrol Nash and Robert Ryan.

He points out that in recent years, particularly from 1937 to 1941, a few American Navy men dared to warn of Japan's inevitable war with the United States.

OAK BAY—PLAZA THEATRE

Two names that warranted top billing during the days when vaudeville was the favored form of entertainment for the American public, appear in support of Warner Baxter in "Crime Doctor," the Columbia picture now playing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. They are Al Shean and Eddie Kane.

Al Shean will be remembered as half of the famous vaudeville team of Gallagher and Shean, that zany pair who set the whole country to shouting the silly song, "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean." Eddie Kane was one of the top comedians of the two-day circuit.

CAPITOL THEATRE

After an absence of 10 years, Kate Smith, America's most popular radio singing star, is back in motion pictures. Kate is doing a chore for the United States Army.

She's singing "God Bless America," Irving Berlin's famous anthem, for a sequence in Mr. Berlin's "This Is the Army," the all-soldier show which Warner Bros. produced, in technicolor for Army Emergency Relief, is now being shown at the Capitol Theatre.

YORK THEATRE

Just to keep his players in the mood, Richard Wallace, Columbia director, took co-stars Loretta Young and Brian Aherne and other principals in "A Night to Remember" to the stage opening of Boris Karloff in "Arsenic and Old Lace," now at the York Theatre, is something new in movie and murder. Jeff Donnell, William Wright, Sidney Toler, Blanche Yurka and Gale Sondergaard are featured.
